Tom Beddard named Business Person of the Year

The Chamber named Tom Beddard the 2015 Business Person of the Year at its Annual Business Breakfast, sponsored by Chambersburg Hospital, on December 10. Beddard, owner/founder of Lady Moon Farms, was honored with the award in recognition of his business growth, regional and national leadership in the agriculture industry and charitable contributions to the community.

"Tom is a leader in the organic farming industry, and that's something for us to be proud of as a community," said Noel Purdy, Chamber president.

Lady Moon Farms, on Criders Church Road in Chambersburg, is the largest grower of organic vegetables on the East Coast. Beddard's business began in 1988 on five acres of tillable land, and has grown to include 2,000 acres with farms in Pennsylvania, Georgia and Florida. Together, these farms provide year-round, full-time employment and supply food for national grocers such as Whole Foods.

Driven by his passion to produce healthy, nutritious food grown without damage to the earth, Beddard helped set the standards and certifications for organically grown food. He became the founding president of Pennsylvania Certified Organic, which today certifies organic farms for the USDA, and is a founding member of the Pennsylvania Association for Sustainable Agriculture.

New Chamber Cards now available

The Chamber will continue its Chamber Card Buy Local Program thanks to the continued support of sponsor Penn National Insurance. New cards arrived last month to replace the cards that expired December 31, 2015. These new cards are effective through December 2017.

The free card has been popular with shoppers and businesses since it debuted in late 2010, with approximately 40,000 distributed over the past two years. Shoppers carry the card on their keychains and present it to receive discounts from more than 60 participating businesses. The program was developed to encourage residents to shop local and support Chamber member businesses.

Chamber Cards continue to be mailed to members upon renewal of their membership, enabling them to distribute cards to their employees. Shoppers interested in receiving the new card may also pick them up at the Chamber office at 100 Lincoln Way East on Memorial Square in Chambersburg.

CHAIR'S MESSAGE

Meet Chamber's new leader of the board

Troy Garman, realtor for RE/MAX Realty Agency, is the new chair of the Greater Chambersburg Chamber of Commerce's board of directors. He replaces Eric Foreman, whose two-year term expired and will now serve as immediate past chair.

For his first column, Troy answered a few questions to help the membership get to know him and his plans as board chair.

How long have you been in real estate and how did you get started in the industry?

I have been in the business for 13 years. I had previous sales experience in the Ag Equipment Industry and then transitioned into real estate sales. My grandfather, Lee Garman, started a real estate firm in Chambersburg in 1974 (the year I was born), so I've been around the business for essentially my entire life.

How did you get involved with the Chamber, and what other ways are you involved in the community?

I joined the Chamber a month after I got my Real Estate License. I've been on the Chamber Board since 2012. I serve on the Community Development Corporation and the Chambersburg Area Development Corporation's planning committee. I also serve on The Shook Home's board of directors and the Cumberland Valley School of Music's board of directors. I'm a member of the Chambersburg Exchange Club.

What are your goals as chair for the next two years?

1. To serve the Chamber by assisting its leadership, Noel Purdy, as she begins her first official calendar year as president of the Chamber.
2. To serve our members by supporting the Membership Committee and Chamber staff while helping the Chamber reach its 1,000 member goal.

What's your favorite place to order pizza in the area, and what toppings do you get?

You may not know this, but Dilly's makes a very good pizza. I prefer theirs with onions, peppers and sausage. But when I'm in the mood to eat at home, I prefer The Butcher Shoppe's heat and eat pizza with banana peppers and bacon.

Troy Garman, Realtor, RE/MAX Realty Agency

Business Person of the Year

Beddard continues to be a leading advocate for the fair treatment of farm workers. His business became the first farm to join the Coalition of Immokalee Workers, an internationally-known fair labor practice organization in Florida.

Beddard and Lady Moon Farms give back to the community, both locally and nationally, in substantial ways. On the national level, Lady Moon Farms announced last year a partnership with the Whole Foods Foundation, becoming the first produce company to join the Growing Healthy Kids program whose purpose is to improve the nutrition of America's children. Each sponsor in the program makes an annual contribution of at least $40,000.

Beddard's local philanthropy includes providing significant support to the Chambersburg Hispanic American Center, of which President and Board Chair Marilyn Ross said, "It is not an exaggeration to state that CHAC would not exist without his support." His farms also provide produce to the Central Pennsylvania Food Bank and contributed to the Capitol Theatre renovations. He is a major contributor to Women in Need, he established a scholarship at James Buchanan High School and he funded the school's tennis courts.

The Chamber has awarded the Business Person of the Year since 1987. Each year, a panel of business and civic leaders selects an individual who has proven professional leadership and business accomplishments while positively impacting the community for the Chamber to recognize with this honor.

Retiring board members recognized

At the Annual Business Breakfast in December, three business leaders were recognized for their years of service on the Chamber's board of directors as their terms ended in 2015. Those recognized include:

- Derrick Donnell, PA Careerlink administrator for Franklin County, served on the board of directors since 2008.
- Terry Guberman, owner and president of Comfort Keepers, served on the board since 2010 (not pictured).
- Suzanne Trinh, partner at the law firm Zullinger-Davis-Trinh, P.C., served on the board since 2008 and was chair of the board from 2011 to 2013.

The Chamber appreciates the volunteer service of Donnell, Guberman and Trinh as directors on the board.

Welcome new board members

The Chamber recently appointed Angela Lynch and Michael J. Connor to its board of directors for terms beginning in 2016.

Angela Lynch joined the Chambersburg Area School District Foundation in 2011 as executive director. In this capacity she supports the mission of raising funds for student scholarships and educational grants. She successfully completed the Penn State Management Institute. Lynch is a member of the Chambersburg Exchange Club, Rotary Club of Chambersburg, the National School Foundation Association, PA School Foundations and the Susquehanna Valley Planned Giving Council. She is secretary of the Penn State Franklin County Club and serves as PA Community Advocate for the Pancreatic Cancer Action Network, chairing the annual "Purple Light at the PA Capitol" event. Angela also serves as an adjunct member of the Wilson College business department faculty.

Michael J. Connor is a partner in Walker, Conner and Spang, and has practiced law for 20 years. His focus is on family law, estate planning and administration, residential real estate transactions, and small business formation. He counsels individuals on a wide range of family law matters including adoption, divorce, prenuptial agreements, custody, and support. Connor lives in Shippensburg with his wife and three kids. He is the president-elect of the Rotary Club of Chambersburg and vice-chair of the Franklin County Redevelopment Authority. He is a past board of director of the Cumberland Valley Animal Shelter and Capitol Theatre Foundation. He is also an alumni of Leadership Franklin County.

The board also approved new terms for existing directors continuing their service on the board. These include: Kim Crider, Rod Hocker, Carlos Perez and Mark Story.

New events coordinator joins staff

GREATER CHAMBERSBURG CHAMBER FOUNDATION

Youth challenge the process

The LFC Youth class met in December to learn about non-traditional careers and challenging the process. Held at the Chambersburg Area Career Magnet School, the sophomores met three mystery guests and asked questions in an attempt to determine what each guest did for a living. Matt Fogal, Franklin County district attorney; David Grant, vice president of Patient Services for Summit Health; and Justin McHenry, Director of the Archives for Franklin County, were the guests. Each panelist spoke about how they got into their field, their education and what their job entails. They each described how they are required to think outside the box to succeed in their profession.

After lunch prepared by the Franklin County Career and Technology Center's Culinary Department, Amy Seiders of F&M Trust and Tiffany Bloyer of Franklin County Government led the class through scenarios that they might face in the course of their lives. The students were asked how they would address each situation and challenge the process to find the best outcome. The students were able to discuss their thoughts with their peers.

The class will reconvene after the new year with a meeting at Wilson College to learn about personal branding. LFC Youth is sponsored by Wilson College.

LFC Community tour nonprofits

The spirit of giving was in the air for the Leadership Franklin County (LFC) Community's December session. The morning was led by Kirsten Hubbard of SpiriTrust Lutheran Home Care & Hospice. Hubbard explained the importance of nonprofits to a prosperous community. The group then headed out to tour three nonprofits to learn about the services each organization offers, how they are funded and the challenges each one faces.

The first stop was the Franklin County Therapeutic Riding Center where the class learned about the programs offered for those with disabilities. The next stop was Occupational Services Inc. where the class saw the work performed by the clients and learned more about the services offered both to clients and the community. The final stop was Renfrew Museum and Park, where the group toured the facility, heard about their history and learned their contributions to the community.

During the afternoon session, the class learned more about the organizational functions of a nonprofit. Hubbard along with Clint Bolte of Clint Bolte Associates, John Boozer of Gateway Commercial Real Estate and Development, and Alan Smith of the Waynesboro YMCA, spoke about nonprofit board functions, events and fundraising. The class was then broken into groups and given the challenge to develop a new fundraising event for a nonprofit. The day concluded with a discussion on fundraising, types of campaigns, and how to ask for contributions.

LFC Community is sponsored by CenturyLink Business.

DOWNTOWN HAPPENINGS

Don't miss the region's most popular winter festival: IceFest

IceFest originated in Chambersburg 14 years ago to help shake the mid-winter blues that fall upon us. A large group of volunteers came together to bring displays along with other activities to get us out of our houses and into our local community. Over the years, the committee, events and crowds have all grown.

Thanks to M&T Bank's sponsorship, local business and community support and coordination by the Borough of Chambersburg, Downtown Chambersburg Inc., Council for the Arts, Downtown Business Council and IceFest Committee members, IceFest has evolved into one of the largest outdoor ice festivals in Pennsylvania.

Celebrate IceFest in downtown Chambersburg from Thursday, January 28 to Sunday, January 31. Pull out your favorite scarf and mittens, bundle the kids up and be sure to grab your camera - you won't want to miss the faces of those who sit upon the giant ice throne for the first time or stand beside their favorite sculpture. You also can catch a glimpse of the carvers from DiMartino ice sculpting right in front of your eyes! Skilled in their art form, these carvers have been trained for many years and can turn a plain block of ice into just about anything. Live carving is on Thursday and Friday nights.

Events are scheduled throughout the four-day festival and include, but are not limited to, the official ribbon-cutting and kick-off ceremony, ballroom dancing at the Snowfall Ball, chili tasting at the Chili Cook-off, dunking at the Polar Dunk Plunge, cake viewing and tasting at Icing on the Cake, slipping and sliding down the free, double-wide ice slide and participating in the Run Your Ice Off 5K.

COMMUNITY EDUCATION COALITION

The business of early learning

Venturing into the world of quality early learning for kids is a journey for any adult, even for those of us who are parents and think we've read all of the right books on the subject. One might wonder, why a committee of the Chamber of Commerce would focus on early learning; where's the value in that?

The fact of the matter is, our best opportunity to lay a solid foundation for the success of our children is during the first three years of life, and upon that foundation we will build all of their future learning experiences, their career aspirations and their future work experience. Habits and patterns that are established now will follow them throughout life. In other words, we're building our future business leaders and workforce today, and we can't get started soon enough.

So what is quality early learning? Quality is all about finding the resources that best support families and young children by creating a safe, consistent environment. Just like a hotel or restaurant, childcare centers that focus on quality can be part of a rating system. In Pennsylvania, the rating system is called Keystone Stars and it provides an indication of the standards set within a center.

In Franklin County, there are just over 30 centers recognized by Keystone Stars. Being a Keystone Stars center means that minimally the center provides families with information about community services and resources that meet the needs of their children, the center staff plans and meets regularly to plan the activities that will be used to develop children within the center, the center provides appropriate health and safety reports for parents of children in the center and documents and communicates any concerns, and the center plans for professional development of the childcare employees. Each star level indicates a more structured approach of providing care, with the highest level of four stars obtained by only two centers in Franklin County. Earning Keystone Stars is not easy for a center, and obtaining higher star levels can be an expensive process, but the indicator of quality is something that families can rely upon and the difference is well worth the higher cost.

For area employers, higher quality childcare means less loss of worktime and reduced stress among employees. Educating about access to quality childcare is something that an employer can easily provide. Volunteers through the Community Education Coalition are being trained to provide information for local business and employee groups. To find Keystone Stars centers, visit their website at www.pakeys.org/pages/stars\_centers.aspx. Training is available for providers as well.

For more information on early childhood education options for your company employees' families or to volunteer to provide training, contact Amy Hicks at ahicks@uwfcpa.org or 717-261-0015.

Nominations sought for annual business awards

The Chamber is seeking nominations for the Annual Awards Breakfast, to be held on Thursday, April 7 at the Chambersburg Country Club, 3646 Scotland Road.

Nominations are being accepted for the following awards: ATHENA Leadership Award, Agribusiness Award, Environmental Sustainability Award, Innovator of the Year, Nonprofit of the Year and Property Improvement Awards (multiple categories).

For more information about the criteria and to request nomination forms, contact Amy Fisher, communications director, at 717-264-7101 ext. 204 or afisher@chambersburg.org. Nominations are due no later than February 22, 2016.

“A substantial portion of my sales are directly attributable to my involvement with the chamber. I am involved with one of the chamber’s network groups, and I have found that to be very rewarding as well. Not only have I had the opportunity to meet and learn from like-minded business people in the community, but I have had fun doing it. Joining the Greater Chambersburg Chamber of Commerce is one of the better business decisions I have made, providing me with growth, fellowship and fantastic marketing opportunities.”

CHAMBERSBURG CIVIL WAR SEMINARS & TOURS Civil War Seminars announces Ed Bearss Award

Chambersburg Civil War Seminars & Tours, a division of the Chambersburg Chamber, is now accepting applications for the newly established Ed Bearss Award. This award, given annually, will encourage the study of the American Civil War era and reimburse the awardee with up to $1,000 for scholarly research.

Named in honor of the esteemed, nationally-known historian, Ed Bearss, the award will be given to a deserving author working on a non-fiction book about the Civil War in Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia or the Shenandoah Valley. The awardee will receive up to $1,000 to cover expenses related to researching their book.

“Ed Bearss has devoted more than 50 years studying the Civil War including serving as the Chief Historian of the National Park Service for over a decade,” Ted Alexander, facilitator and co-founder of Chambersburg Civil War Seminars & Tours, said. “He has played a vital role in our Civil War tours since we started in 1989, and this is one way we can show our appreciation for his dedication and his commitment to keeping the study of the Civil War alive.”

Funds raised for the award originate from donations, silent auction proceeds and raffles. The award is supported by both Chambersburg Civil War Seminars and attendees at tours held throughout the year. Applications are being accepted through March 1, 2016. Submissions will be reviewed by the Ed Bearss Award Committee and the awardee will be announced at the “Stonewall Jackson in the Valley” Civil War Seminar scheduled for May 19-22, 2016 in Harrisonburg, Va.

Visit www.CivilWarSeminars.org for more information about the award or for a schedule of upcoming seminars.

COMMITTEE CORNER

Meet Tricia Baney, member of the IceFest Committee

Committee Corner spotlights a different Chamber volunteer to provide insight on their experiences being part of the Chamber, contributing to the community and building their career.

While I was aware of the Chamber through my employer, Patriot Federal Credit Union, I wasn't given a full introduction until I participated in Leadership Franklin County (LFC). Through LFC, I became more aware of how instrumental the Chamber is in creating and organizing many of the activities and events that keep this community alive and thriving.

One of Patriot's core values is Good Citizenship, and after graduating from LFC I was seeking a way to become more involved in the community. I was invited to join the IceFest and Chili Cook-Off committees and I have really enjoyed getting to meet and work with everyone who comes together to make these events a success every year. This is my second year of participation and it is truly amazing to see how all the little pieces come together into a successful community event.

IceFest is held downtown the last weekend of January. The stars of the weekend are over 70 ice sculptures sponsored by area businesses. And there's much more happening during the festival. Participants in IceFest can also watch the carvers turn blocks of ice into giant, glittering sculptures, they can check out the double ice slide, or they can get their picture taken on an icy throne. Other activities include coming in from the cold to dance at the Snowfall Ball, firing up those taste buds at the Chili Cook-Off, or just relax and admire local cake artists' work at Icing on the Cake. The committees work hard to make sure there is something for everyone, and they're introducing two new events this year, a live glass blowing demonstration and a 5K run.

If you have never been to IceFest or if it has been a few years since you attended, I encourage you to take a look at the full schedule at www.icefestpa.com and be ready for some unique and interesting winter activities.
